Alma Mater

Come, students all, our praises bear
To Belton High, dear Belton High.
Thy days of work, thy hours fair,
Belton High, dear Belton High.
We sing thy virtues, staid and rare,
That gird our youth, our path prepare,
For life's attending joy and care,
Belton High, dear Belton High.

TIME is a second, a year, four years—years in which Belton High opens its doors to each of us, shelters and encourages our highest ambitions, fortifies us with knowledge, gives us insight into our own being, and makes us realize that there is no boundary to learning. TIME is that fleeting moment when you pause in the auditorium to contemplate how many others have paused there before you. It is the many afternoons of practice which lead to perfection and which culminate in victory. It is the hours and hours of study which strengthen us with knowledge. Each of us begins with a choice and ends with a basis for existence . . .

The SPIRIT—that intangible thing which is so vital to the existence and memory of a high school surely thrives in the mind of each student. This SPIRIT is many things: the feeling of accomplishment over an assignment well done, the tenseness of the last moments of the “big” game, the sense of being part of a unit with a common goal, the security that comes with friendship, an atmosphere of amiable competition among scholars. The SPIRIT lingers on . . .

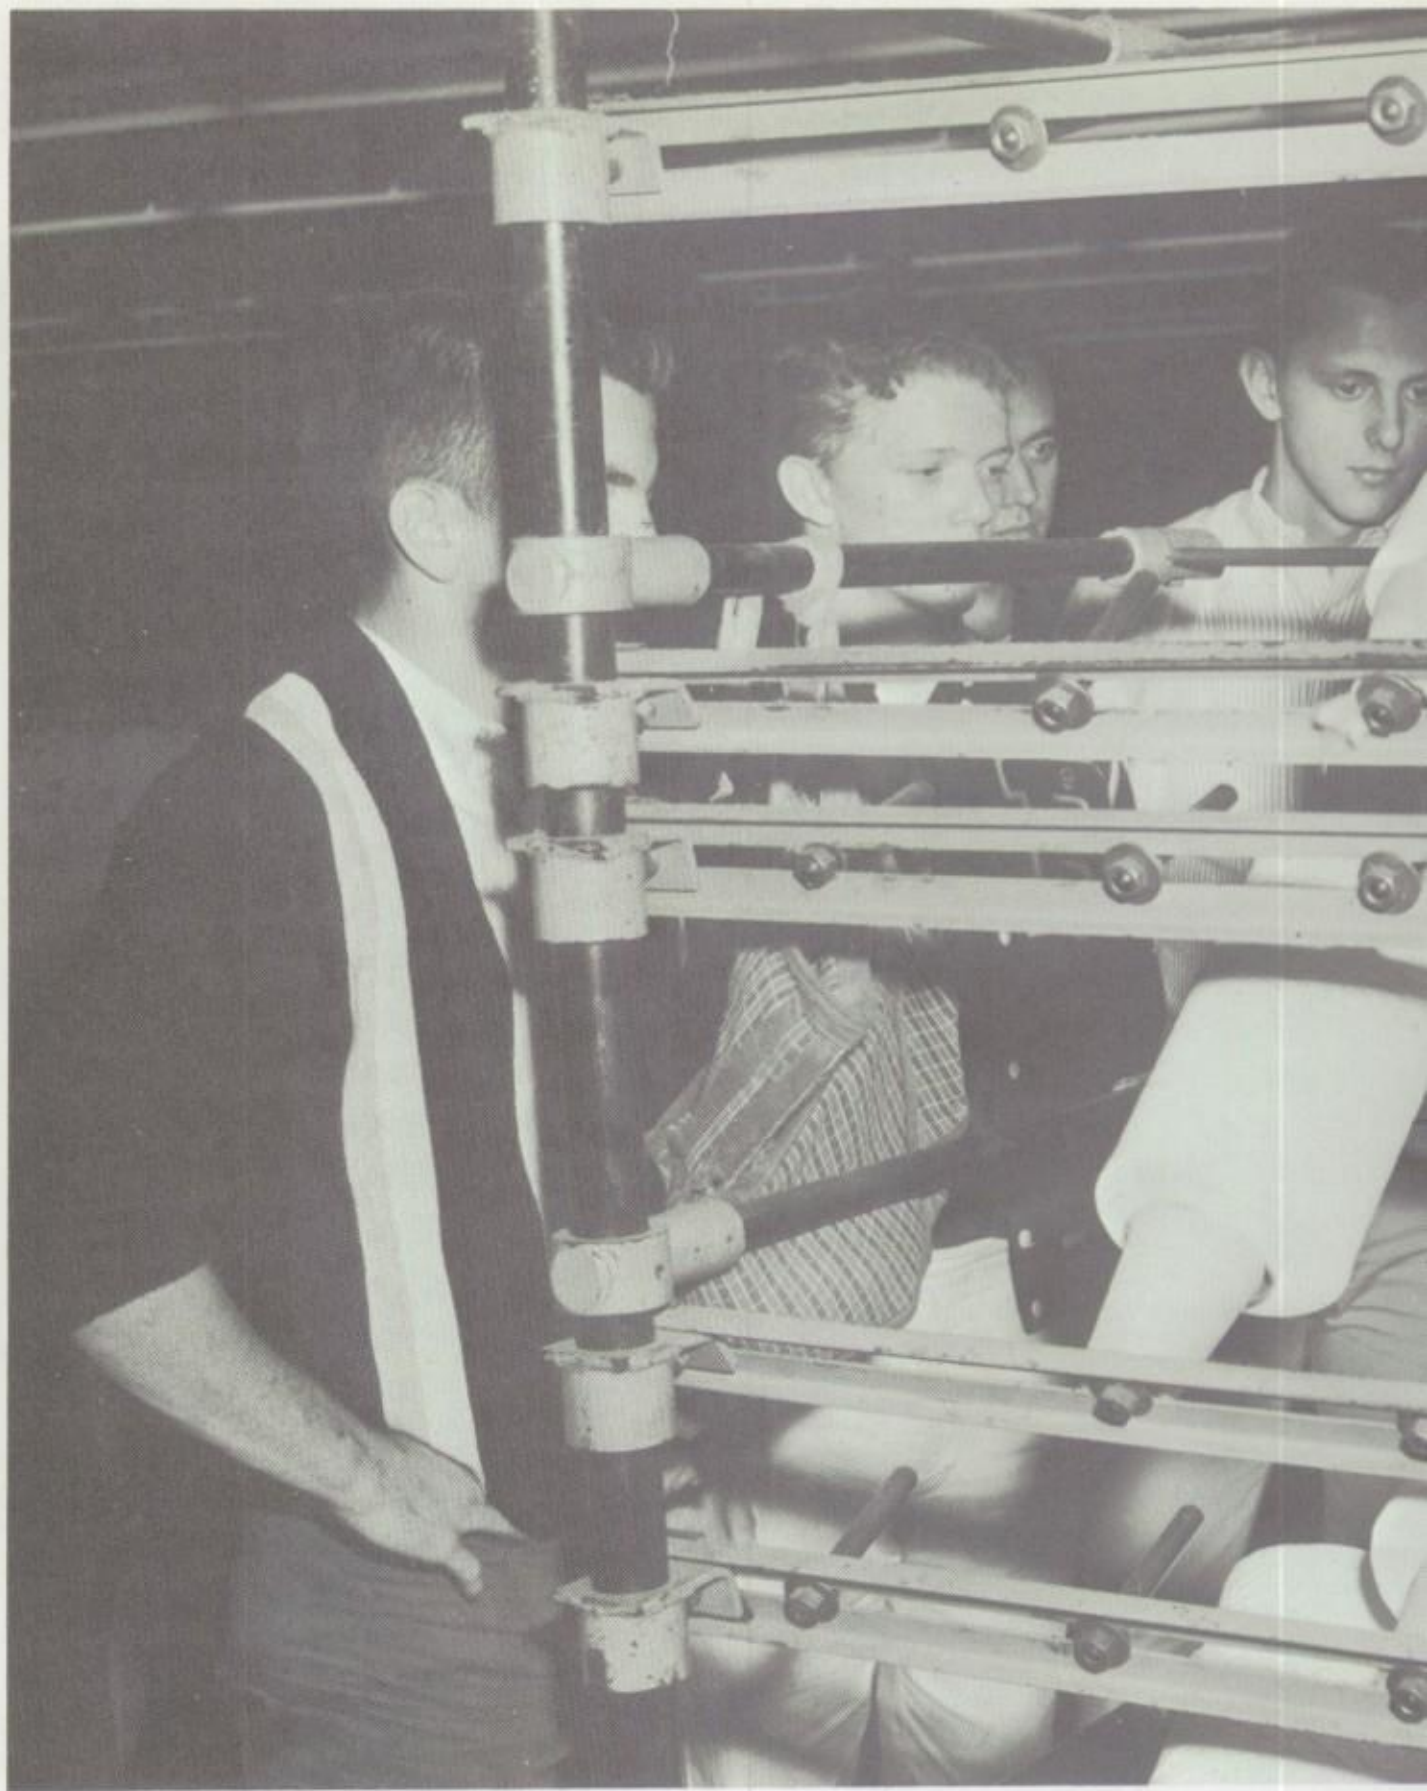

Belton High, A WAY OF LIFE—individuals living, working, and laughing together. Our lives are a myriad of plans, exams, impossible pranks, always classes, football passes, grades, smiles, lines, screams, teams, labs, fads, teachers, bleachers, crammed lockers, college boards, opening doors, worthwhile projects, doing, learning, being, pals, bells, a purpose prevails. In all the bewilderment of youth, Belton High represents a permanency which is important to us in our constantly changing world. Within these walls we pursue our tasks . . .

Miss Golden Warrior Contest

The seven finalists are all smiles as they congratulate each other backstage.

"Smile, you're on candid camera."

"Just walk slowly, face the audience, and count to eight each time you stop."

One of the highest honors presented to any senior girl at Belton High School is the title of Miss Golden Warrior. Five faculty members chose fifteen girls from the senior class. At the Miss Golden Warrior Pageant on November 15, the contestants were interviewed by five out - of - town judges. On stage they were judged as they appeared in casual clothes. Certainly the most beautiful part of the pageant was the appearance of the contestants in evening attire. During the intermissions, high school students entertained the audience and a fashion show was presented by Wright's Quality Shop.

Career Day

"Now when Mr. Woodson blows the whistle . . ."

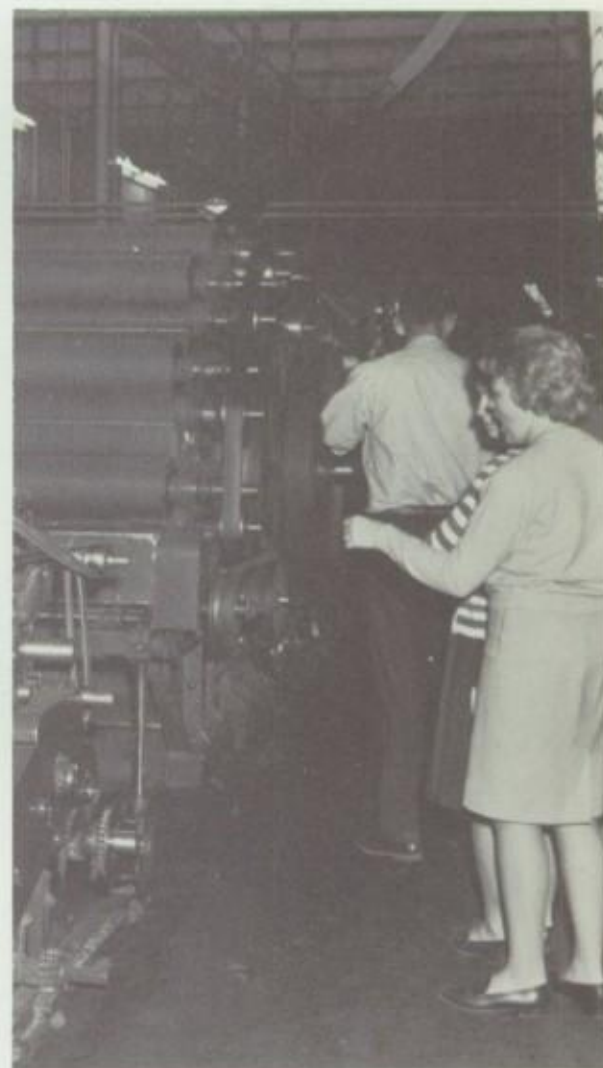

The second annual Career Day proved to be another success for the students of BHS. Representatives from various fields of industry and professions spoke to the student body. Juniors and seniors were excused from morning classes and allowed a fifteen - minute conference with certain representatives. After the interviews, students were taken by bus to visit an industry of their choice. This highlight on the calendar of BHS ended with the hope that some junior or senior had settled on a vocation based on his or her day's experiences.

Mr. Hicks explains a step in carpet-making to Lynda.

"Yes, you must pass chemistry to become a nurse."

"This is the first time I've ever been in a mill!"

Student Activities

Many students enjoyed watching the inauguration on January 20.

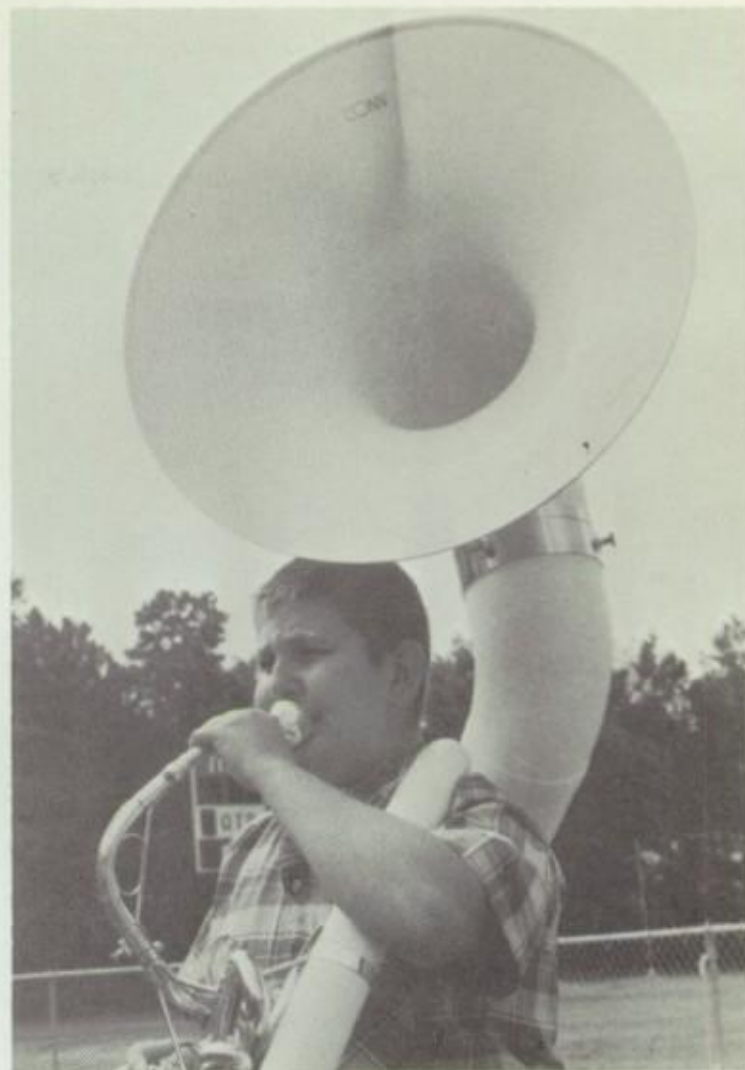

Captains for the junior class magazine sale tally up the day's receipts.

Turner was one of many students performing in the talent show after the Halloween Carnival.

Square dancing at the sock hop was only one of the many activities that kept BHS'ers busy.

Tim and his big horn put in many hours of practice.

All-State Band nominees practice before tryouts.

Brenda Carmen and Marlee Gambrell were Queen and King of the Halloween Carnival.

Homecoming

Seldom is the spirit of Belton High more evident than at Homecoming. From the moment the team burst through the gigantic Warrior head, a feeling of pride and expectancy filled the air. The half - time ceremony, which included a performance by the Warrior Band, was climaxed as Miss Glenda Chapman was crowned Homecoming Queen for 1964. The crowd voiced its approval as she left the field with her attendants, Miss Gloria Hopkins and Miss Ninita McKinley. The evening was capped with a 51-0 victory over Ellen Woodside.

Sponsors eagerly wait to share the spotlight.

Peggy and Irene marched in front of the band in the Christmas parade.

Adding beauty to this float were Patsy, Janet, and Phronsie.

Christmas was ushered in early in December with the annual Christmas Dance. Several senior girls waited impatiently to hear Elaine Brown proclaimed Miss Merry Christmas for 1964.

Singing Yuletide selections for the student body during assembly, the chorus set everyone to humming their favorites.

Students gave Christmas joy through food baskets sponsored by the Student Council.

Pretty girls on floats and the high-stepping Warrior band represented Belton High in the town's Christmas parade.

Christmas Festivities

Riding on a lovely pink float was a special thrill for Miss Merry Christmas and her attendants.

The highlight of the Christmas Dance was the crowning of Miss Merry Christmas, Elaine Brown. Standing with her are Pat Davenport, second runner-up, and Sandy King, first runner-up.

Junior Senior

Students AND teachers enjoy Junior Senior.

"Singing in the Rain"

Belton High's social life was brought to a peak when the juniors hosted the annual Junior-Senior. His polished manner, the jaunty carnation in his lapel, her radiant smile, the gown floating as she walked—these were all part of that night of nights, the Junior-Senior.

For weeks the juniors had worked diligently to create an illusion of falling rain in the gymnasium. The result was a lovely ballroom filled with happy couples entranced by the music and mystery of this occasion. The entertainment was provided by Royce Collins, Pat Dyar, the Rice Trio, and a group of very talented waiters and waitresses who carried out the theme of "Singing In The Rain." The band set the mood with their swinging sounds and mood music.

The next morning found everyone a little tired but oh so proud and happy of this their high school Junior-Senior.

"Ladies and gentlemen, may I have your attention please."

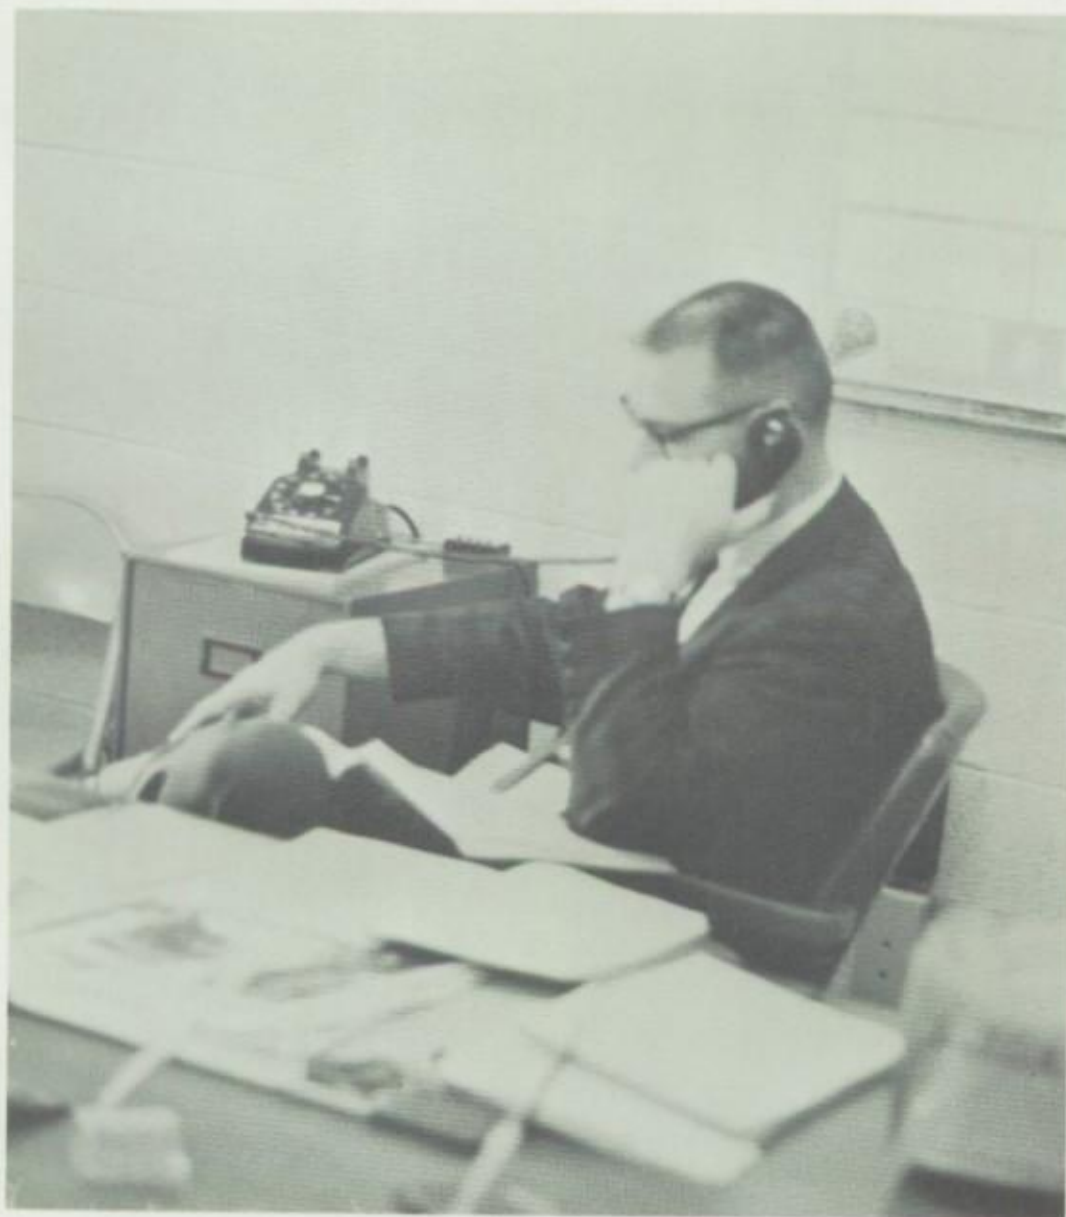

ACADEMICS

Isn't it astonishing that all these secrets have been preserved for so many years just so we could discover them.

Administration

Tomorrow's scientists, teachers, doctors, lawyers, businessmen, farmers, and homemakers walk the halls of Belton High each day. To become these people of tomorrow we must be guided by interested adults who understand and realize our potential. This is the main objective of our administration. With this goal in mind, they strive to make us better citizens of tomorrow.

The office staff helps to make the student's life easier by keeping his records straight, sending transcripts to colleges for seniors, crediting money, and issuing excuses. Aided by the office staff and the administration, a student receives the guidance and leadership he needs.

OFFICE ASSISTANTS: Sandra Mitchell, Elaine Brown, Elaine Richardson, Colleen Hedgepath, Shirley Cummings, Jean Bruce.

The duties of the assistant principal include seeing that students arrive at school on time each morning. Mr. J. T. Elrod is shown with bus drivers Tony Daniel, Pat Stevens, Jean Bruce, Bill Wood, Philip Dickert, Joe Hilliard, Phronsie Horton, and Larry Fant.

Our last year at Belton High has been filled with mixed emotions . . . anxiety over grades . . . introspection . . . waiting to be accepted by the colleges of our choice . . . facing the climax of our high school careers with the "Big Trip" and graduation. As we think back over our past years at Belton High, we could have nothing except respect and admiration for one who has given unfailing devotion to his students. For his desire to help those who need help and to encourage those who need encouragement, and most important, for ideals of intellectual honesty and the courage to support them with character, we dedicate the 1965 GOLDEN WARRIOR to Mr. J. T. Elrod.

Science

Science is the why of things. It is the knowledge of the world around us. Understanding the "science" behind everyday phenomena is interesting to most students and fascinating to others. Through the study of biology, chemistry, and physics, attention is given to the following: the understanding of basic scientific methods and the cultivation of desirable attitudes, interests, and appreciation. Facts are verified by tests and experiments.

English

The necessity of learning to communicate with others is basic and indispensable. Mastering our own language is so important that units of instruction in English are required of all students in all grades. In addition to basic grammar, vocabulary enrichment and literary appreciation are stressed. Composition, an art for some, while others find pleasure in appreciation of such art, has gained increasing importance in the English courses offered at Belton High.

History

Teaching students the relationship of one event to another is the main concern of the history department. Since this is one of the most important of all courses of study in high school, each student is required to take at least one year of history. Four different courses are offered to students who wish to supplement their knowledge of national and international activities: civics, world history, American history, and senior citizenship.

Language

The foreign language department is designed to further the understanding of seemingly strange customs and ideals. By daily exercise in reading and pronunciation, a gradual increase in familiarity is gained so that the learner develops a knowledge of content and acquires the ability to converse correctly. French students who are required to read French novels and short stories obtain a background in French literature. Latin students become familiar with Roman mythology while translating stories of ancient Rome.

Library

The library is truly a research laboratory. It is directly connected with every other department. The books, pamphlets, magazines, and other literary works in the Belton High library give students an opportunity to increase their knowledge in their free time. An inviting atmosphere and a selection of widely acclaimed books are only two reasons that students spend much of their time in the library.

MRS. EUNICE McPHAIL
Furman University, B. A.

Music

Through the band and chorus, the music department helps students understand and appreciate music. Beautiful music, a stirring march — both are so much a part of enjoyable living. Students are given a chance to develop their talents and to learn from the world of music. The Warrior Band and the Chorus always delight the student body with their performances.

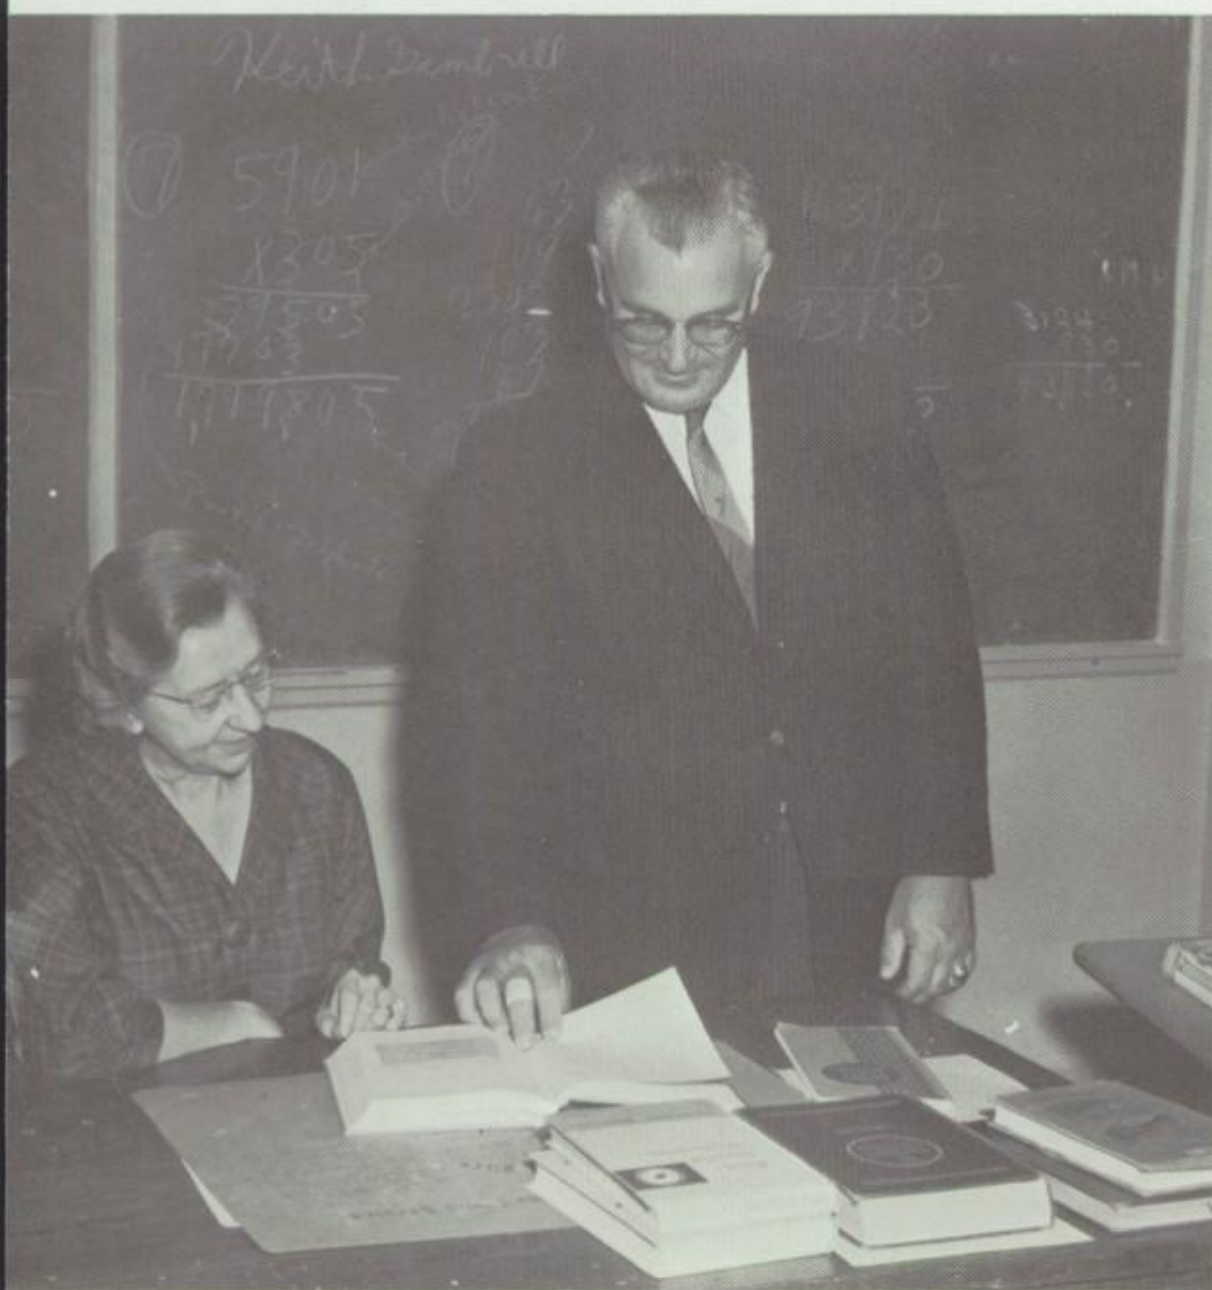

MR. LELAND SCOTT
Furman University, B. A.

Math

The math department encourages the acquisition of the fundamental mathematical skills demanded in our society and the formation of clear and logical thinking. A new approach to math was introduced to students in all grades. This advancement prepares students for college and for professional work with a sequential presentation of material in the general and specialized areas. Students interested in math may choose algebra I and II, plane geometry, advanced algebra and trigonometry, and calculus.

Physical Education

Development of a healthy body is an important factor in the formation of a healthy outlook on life. The importance of physical fitness and team cooperation is stressed each day in physical education classes.

Boys are instructed in a variety of sports, such as, football, basketball, baseball, and track. Minor team sports and individual activities are also emphasized.

The program followed by the girls varies slightly and is less strenuous. The technical points of most sports are stressed more strongly than the execution.

The physical education classes remain an important part of the curriculum of Belton High School.

Three nonacademic electives, home economics, agriculture, and commerce, compose the vocational department of Belton High.

Problems in home and family living are many and varied. Giving students an understanding and an appreciation of the basic principles underlying homemaking is the basic aim of the home economics department. Vocational agriculture teaches young farmers improved farm techniques and imparts a greater knowledge of future agricultural possibilities to its students.

The commercial courses include typing, business math, bookkeeping, and shorthand. Such courses help a student enter the business world with a knowledge which will be of great help to him in his career.

Football

Belton High football fans will never forget the 1964 season. With the best record in many years, the Warriors are considered by many to be the top team in the state. A loss to the state champions Ware Shoals in the final regular season game cut short the Warriors' train to glory.

With a nucleus of 18 senior players, the Warrior team built the most powerful combination of crushing defense and lightning fast offense in the upper state. The most satisfying victory of Belton's nine wins was that over arch - rival Honea Path. The 1965 Warriors will be remembered for a long time.

With the entire crew of 1963-64 returning, the Belton Warriors promise to lead the pack in the WEBACH this year. Most of the group have played together for several years. This experience and knowledge gained in these past years help make them one of the few seasoned teams in the conference.

The tallest group ever to play at Belton is led by 6-7 sophomore R. Snipes and 6-6 junior P. Hendrix. Other leading players include seniors P. Rowland, L. Blake, G. Chandler, and S. Griffin.

So far in the year the Warriorettes have had convincing victories over such teams as Honea Path and Crescent. The girls' team promises to have a very successful season.

Cheerleaders

"1-2-3-4-3-2-1-4 B-E-L-T-O-N . . ." This rousing cheer has led the Warriors to many victories on both the basketball court and the gridiron. Their sparkling personalities and energetic cheers encouraged the school spirit at games and pep rallies. The BHS cheerleaders were elected by a group of faculty members on the basis of their individual personalities and their execution of cheers. After practicing all summer they were well prepared to lead the student body in cheering the teams on to victory.

Track

For the fifth straight year, the 1964 Belton Warriors were Conference champions. The track record for the past five years is a fantastic 40-1. The Warriors proved far stronger than was expected. Before the season was over, eleven of the fifteen records had been broken. The running events were the strong point of the team. Every record from the 220-yard sprint up was smashed by the hard working cindermen.

The team placed in each of the three relays entered. The Warriors copped first place in the inaugural Belton Relays, tied for fourth in the News-Piedmont Relays and took sixth place in the Hendersonville Relays.

This year's team is expected to be equal or better than the teams of the past. With the loss of only two seniors from the squad, they are favored to be WEBACH Conference champs once again.

Led by seniors James King and James Wood, the Warriors completed a successful year with the state meet.

Girls' Tennis

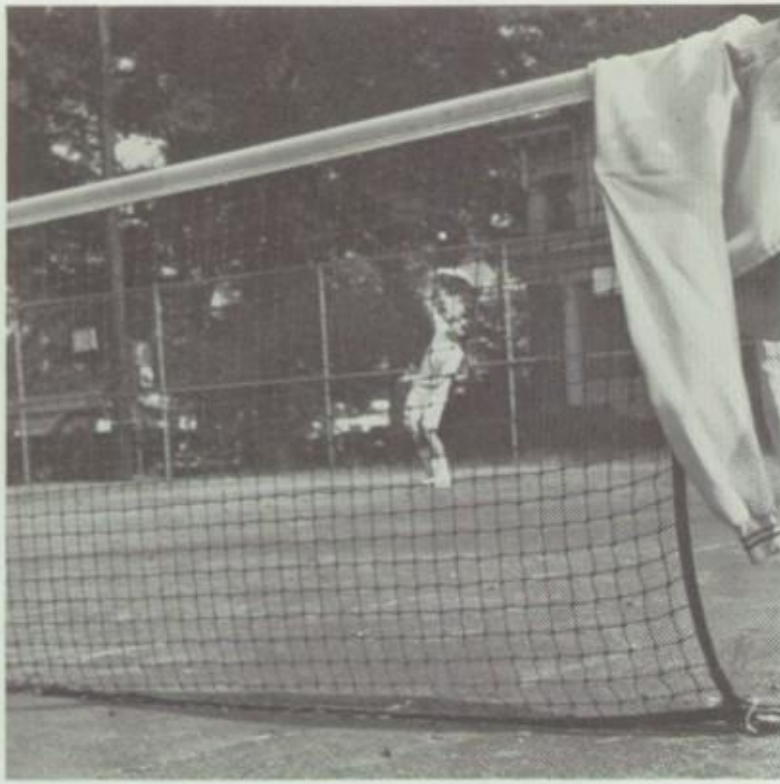

Very little can be said about the Belton High girls' tennis team that has not been said already. This team has lost only two matches in the past fifteen years. It is unusual for them not to bring home the state championship trophy.

The loss of one of the South's top players did not have a great effect on the 1965 girls' team. Other high - ranked girls greeted their formidable foes with an excellent type of play. These girls made their usual fine showing in the state tournament.

Boys' Tennis

Another exciting match begins at the Belton tennis courts.

Coach Robbins watches tennis action.

Batting around a little fuzzy ball with a stick may seem silly to many people, but not to a number of boys at Belton High School. Belton has a reputation for winning tennis teams, and the 1964 Warriors were no exception. Nine teams fell victim to the exceptional play of these boys while only three times were the Warriors defeated.

The 1965 boys' team, led by three seniors, played determined tennis with high hopes of seeing the state championship trophy again in the halls of Belton High.

Seniors

MISS SENIOR: Phronsie Horton

SENIOR OFFICERS: Gary Cox, President; Philip Dickert, Treasurer; Steve Houston, Vice-President; Elaine Ellison, Secretary.

In May, we, the Senior Class of 1965 will leave Belton High School to go our separate ways. Since entering Belton High as freshmen four years ago, each of us has become an integral part of our class. We have learned that success is achieved, not inherited, and that our futures will be better because of the time we have spent at Belton High. The rousing pep rallies, the tense excitement of football games, our Senior trip, Junior-Senior, the Halloween Carnival, cramming for tests, even the hurried conversations in the halls between classes will become only treasured memories too numerous to record, but too dear ever to be forgotten.

The mighty seniors are leaving for the last time. We realize now that our high school years have been a way of life which we will never be able to recapture, but as we face the future we carry with us the knowledge and strength gained at Belton High.

Juniors

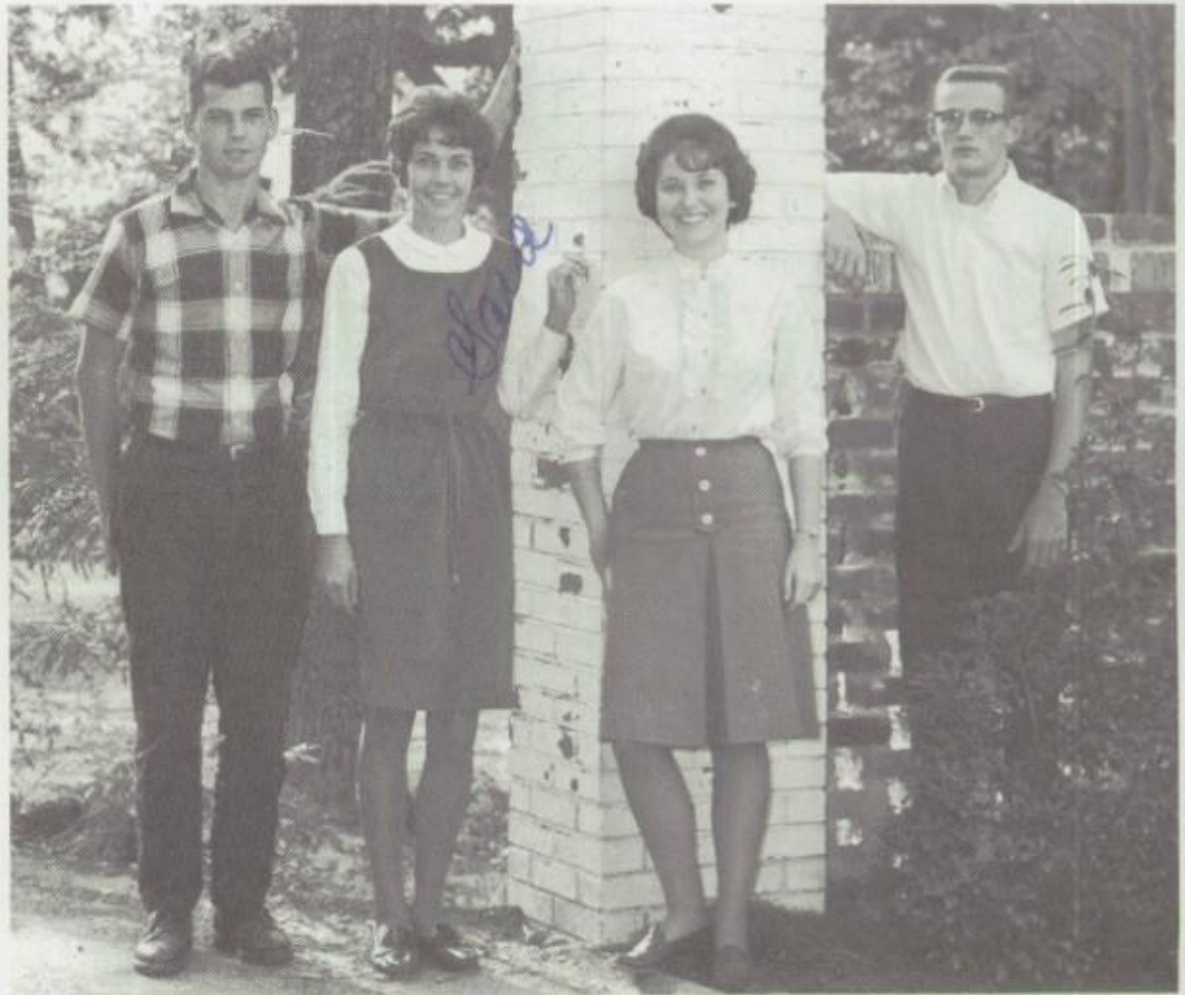

MISS JUNIOR: Turner Rice

This has been a most memorable year for the juniors. We enjoyed new prestige and privileges. Struggling through geometry, French, American history, and chemistry tests were a few of the more difficult matters we had to cope with. It was not all work, however, we had fun, too. Soon we found ourselves style setters, Beta members, important sports figures, and enthusiastic participants in all phases of school life.

Staging a magazine sale and being hosts at Junior-Senior are two projects that just naturally belong to juniors. This year the junior class broke all previous records on sales for their magazine drive.

Each of us now awaits that glorious moment when he will become—a Senior!

Sophomores

Our sophomore year was characterized by good times, good friends, and growing up. Latin conjugations, algebraic formulas, dissecting in Biology, and reading Julius Caesar tested our knowledge, while the sock hop, serving at Junior-Senior, and the Latin banquet expanded our social lives. To us, each new day was an experience, and each new experience an adventure. We look forward to our junior year with an eagerness to learn and a willingness to do our best.

Upon entering these walls of Belton High School as freshmen, we found that many challenges and changes awaited us. The new privileges of attending chapel programs, electing class officers, and joining clubs were taken in stride. From our group, scholars, beauties, and athletes were quickly discovered. As we became a part of Belton High School, a unity of spirit and purposefulness emerged which will lessen the obstacles we will face in the next three years. We felt a little older as we realized that our freshman year is only a beginning.

CITY OF BELTON

BELTON, SOUTH CAROLINA

In 1853, Dr. George Brown, a pioneer of the Belton area, donated land to the new Municipality so that it might be used for educational purposes. A nephew of Dr. Brown, and father of Mrs. J. T. West, Jr., who now resides in Belton, W. Carroll Brown taught in the first and new school.

The Mayor and City Council are proud of all the history, from beginning to present day, and the role the Belton Schools have and are playing in the life of our community. We share in the pride and optimism of the modern system for which plans are already in the making and await with enthusiasm to watch these plans materialize into a reality.

We believe it to be a mutual feeling that the academics, activities and athletics of our local school system is at an all time high. The Student-Faculty, P. T. A.-Administration, Trustee-Public relationship is now of the caliber that any community would be proud of. Most of all, "that ole school spirit", of which Belton High is so deserving, is experienced day by day as one is in contact with the young students of all the Belton Schools. The part that our youths live in our churches is exemplified in the school spirit.

And what does this mean to Belton, the community itself, and to its local government and leaders? To paraphrase the words of a well known poet, "youth is the fathers and mothers of the children of tomorrow." Therefore, the way our generations are taught and instructed, will determine our government and leaders of the future, and should our good school continue to be blessed, BELTON shall always continue to be A BETTER PLACE IN WHICH TO LIVE, WORK AND PLAY!

"Business staff slaves over ads."

As this year draws to a close, each moment becomes a memory and each memory becomes more precious than the last as we realize that each "hello" in the halls, every slam of a locker door, and every class bell brings us closer to graduation.

We've tried to capture as many of these moments as possible in this, the 1965 GOLDEN WARRIOR. Our job was made a little easier by the past editions of the GOLDEN WARRIOR which firmly imprinted in the minds of everyone our school colors, customs, and symbols. This year, however, we felt that a change was needed. This explains the "new look" which included more color, a new style for write-ups, and more informal pictures. We hope you will accept and like the changes we have made.

As we send the last pages to press, we feel that we must thank the many persons who have given their invaluable aid and assistance to us, the staff. Our advisor, Mrs. Alice McCoy, and our assistant advisor, Mrs. Fred Greer, have managed, counseled, and patiently helped us in our hours of need. To Mr. Pete Dugan, our photographer, what can be said except "thanks" for taking all of our pictures and for cheering us up when we needed it. We wish to thank Mr. Earl McDermott, Mr. Ronald Norman, and Mr. Morris Kenig of Keys Printing Company for encouraging all of our new ideas and for helping us develop them. Never could we have produced this yearbook, had it not been for the cooperation of Mr. T. J. Bratton, our principal, and the rest of the faculty of Belton High. Without the support of the merchants who bought the ads, needless to say, we wouldn't have an annual.

We hope that our efforts will stimulate others to retain the spirit and that special friendliness which characterizes Belton High School. To each of you, our readers, the 1965 GOLDEN WARRIOR staff extends best wishes for a future filled with happiness for each of you.
